Health Plan Not Being Railroaded, Dr. Hames Avers

Citizens of Saskatoon and other municipalities mentioned recently in the Saskatchewan Gazette as being included in Health Region 8 would have a chance to vote at the next municipal elections on whether or not they wished to be included in the region, Dr. C. F. W. Hames, deputy minister of health said Thursday in an interview here.

Dr. Hames emphasized there would be no "railroading" any municipality, including Saskatoon, whose voters decided they did not wish to remain out of the region would be excluded. The Gazette notice, he said, would only include those municipalities in favor of it.

60-DAY PERIOD

Referring to last Tuesday's meeting of the Saskatoon city council, Dr. Hames said he regretted there had been any misunderstanding between the department and the council but he wished to express his appreciation of the hearing he and his assistants had received from the council earlier in the year.

He said the notice in the Gazette was merely a formality to offer us if we did not exercise a 60-day period. He said the department had to "fit it up right away" so it would know where it stood. People of the municipalities concerned had to be prepared to face the question.

Another point raised by Dr. Hames was that Saskatoon's medical health officer, Dr. Arthur Wilson, was due for retirement on November 1. It was imperative that the department know soon whether or not the city would come into the region or remain out and appoint its own successor to Dr. Wilson.

On his return to Regina, Dr. Hames said he would study his letter to the city and see if there was any conflict between it and the act. Naturally he said, the act and regulations in force would be followed closely. The conception was that the department was acting in accordance both with the act and with the wishes of the city council.

In conclusion, Dr. Hames said he had every faith in the Saskatoon city council and realized its privilege of directing the people of the city. He hoped it would back the region.

Get Grade Level Before Building

The city engineer's department is anxious that all persons planning to erect any building first obtain the proper grade or level of the street on which the structure will front. These sidewalk grades are furnished free of charge at the city hall. A pamphlet explaining the matter is supplied all persons taking out a building permit.

SET UP IN 1911

City Engineer H. McL. Watson explained not long before there were any sidewalks or grades established on roads in the city, permanent grades were decided on to obtain proper drainage of the street when it was improved.

It was impossible, he said, to have the permanent grade agreed with the natural grade of any certain property as the street grades had to be regular and the natural ground was "up and down."

Some of these grades were established as long ago as 1911 and even yet there were no curb, walks or curbs constructed, he pointed out. The system adopted was that every applicant for a building grade filled out an application form.

When the grade was set by stakes, stating what the future grade would be and the record was ensured in a special book dating back to 1910. The grade was also marked and noted on the profile rolls showing the future grade of every street, the engineer said.

It was seldom that these grades were changed, he explained, and if there was any variation the cases where building grades had been given were carefully examined to prevent any discrimination against persons who had troubled to have their grades established, Mr. Weir explained.

When the time came to construct a sidewalk, the engineer's department checked the grade level stakes where grades had been given and which turned out to be below the level of the walk. This was due to disregard of the grade given, the engineer stated.

Also, in past years, most persons didn't bother to get a grade but used their own judgment. This resulted in many cases in the property being lower than the sidewalk.

Convention Conference

George Herwig, general secretary of the national command of the Canadian Legion, and Hugh Parry, a Quebec command official, will arrive by plane from Ottawa Saturday morning to attend a meeting of the provincial Legion officers called by Judge Alex. Ross Sunday at The Bessborough.

The meeting will prepare for the Canadian Legion national convention scheduled for May 22-26, 1948, in Saskatoon. Judge Ross will be general chairman of the national convention.

CANON C. G. LAWRENCE

VERY REV. C. SWANSON

Two outstanding speakers will preach at St. John's Cathedral on Sunday. At the morning service, Canon C. G. Lawrence, Halifax, will preach and the Very Rev. C. Swanson of Vancouver, will occupy the pulpit at night.

ROAD SIGNS

Appropriate signs giving mileage and other pertinent information for the benefit of motorists leaving Saskatoon will be erected at all highway exits to the city, it was decided Tuesday at a meeting of the city council.

Yorkton Farmers Pay $10 For Help

Special to The Star-Phoenix

YORKTON, Sept. 5.—Twelve Yorkton farmers offering $10 a day wages tossed a coin Thursday morning for the lone harvester on the Winnipeg-Saskatoon train. The coin-flick eleven were among the 300 farmers seeking harvest workers through the Yorkton branch of the government employment service.

The Yorkton office gave the farmers the choice of $8 a day and board, or $10 a day, and added a 10 per cent of the crop in this area to the lone can. Some 75 per cent of the crop in this district, he said, was handed by binders.

Gougeon Acquitted Of Manslaughter

VANCOUVER Sept 4.—Fred Gougeon, forestry of Saskatoon and now a director of a Vancouver tavern, was acquitted in assize court, Westminster, on a charge of manslaughter arising from an accident here May 30 in which Frank Bristow, truck welder, was killed and Peter Sawyer, badly injured when struck by Gougeon's car.

Gougeon who entered the army as a private in 1940 and transferred to the air force which he left as a flying officer in 1945, testified in his own defence.

TRAPPING RIGHTS

REGINA.—The provincial resources department will give exclusive 10-year trapping rights to lumber cooperatives in certain areas to encourage formation of trapping cooperatives, it was learned in Regina. Two areas—Lodge Lake, near Kamsack, in northeastern Saskatchewan, and Amisk, near Prince Albert—have been designated as suitable for the cooperatives.

Campbell Robbery Case Slated for Court Next Week

A case that has already cost the province thousands of dollars is slated to appear in the courts a third time, Tuesday morning, in a re-trial of the Campbell-Jones highway slugging, which occurred July 9, 1946, on a side road east of the airport.

BEATEN ABOUT HEAD

Thomas Hugh Campbell, Saskatoon, was charged with the wounding and robbery of Walter Jones, service station employee, after the latter was found slumped in a parked coupe, battered about the head. Campbell had been one of a party of friends of Mrs. George Mann and collapsed near the house after asking to get in.

The case was ordered re-tried on two occasions, once when the case was "thrown out" because of newspaper publicity to a statement allegedly made to the R.C. will be held September 10 at M.P. by Campbell and again when Campbell was granted a re-trial.

The hearing is scheduled to be heard at the sittings of Court of King's Bench but it was learned this morning, without confirmation, that Judge V. R. Smith of the district court might hear the case.

No other king's bench cases are listed.

O'ROURKE INQUEST

Inquiry into the death of Bryce O'Rourke, killed in the explosion of an oil tank he was welding Wednesday afternoon, will be held September 10 at the police station.

Squadron Starts Recruiting Drive

Recruiting for No. 406 Auxiliary Squadron, R.C.A.F., Saskatoon, is now under way, Sqdn. Ldr. J. Baillie, O.C., said this morning. As there is a limit to the complement, he advised that all ex-R.C.A.F. aircrew and ground tradesmen desirous of joining, make application immediately.

The squadron particularly needed aero-engine and airframe mechanics, he said, but tradesmen, he said, and application forms could be obtained from the D.T.A. in the London building, and from the airport, No. 4 hangar. These applicants should be addressed to the commanding officer, 406 Auxiliary Squadron, airport, Saskatoon.

The aircrew would be trained to "wings" standard on Harvard aircraft, he said, then convert to Mosquito bombers to operate in a tactical squadron. Ground training would be conducted in conjunction with the flying.

The opportunity to work with the finest R.C.A.F. equipment would be available to the ground crews, as well as development in their particular trade through lectures and practical instruction.

Comfortable messes were available to officers and other ranks, together with the same type of companionship and esprit de corps that existed in the R.C.A.F. during the war, he said.

The training planned would operate only during normal civilian non-working hours, so recruits would not jeopardize their ordinary vocations.

Nature certainly repays. In an area which last spring was covered with ice cakes, and flooded with water, south of Moss Lake and east of Brown Lake, the oats and wheat planted by Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Coenders, section three, south of Cory. It was estimated that 20 acres of oats, over five feet tall, will run 50 bushels, and 60 acres of wheat will also average 50 bushels. R. H. McAmmond, who originally owned the farm, is holding the samples.

TABLE MOTION

REGINA, Sept. 5.—City Council last night tabled a motion which would increase street car fares to four tickets for 25 cents from the present five-cent fare.

Aldermen Remain Snarled in Talks On Traffic Bylaws

Some regulations were passed, others were amended, some were deferred, and still others, termed "strident," were discarded when the city council met Thursday night to discuss the proposed new traffic bylaws.

Although the traffic bylaws will not be finally approved by the city council, if the meantime the old laws will still apply. The committee still has dozens of bylaws to consider.

The dull meeting was lightened somewhat at times by Aldermen Mills who took particular exception to bylaws involving loopholes for "meddlesome" policemen to "regiment" either pedestrians or car drivers.

PEDESTRIAN RIGHTS

Particular attention was given to the meaning of "right-of-way" as it applied to pedestrians crossing streets. After much discussion this subject was deferred until a report was received from the city solicitor.

This was occasioned by a proposed bylaw 301 which would give pedestrians the right-of-way from crossing the roadway with, in any marked or unmarked crosswalk at the end of a block except at intersections where traffic was controlled by police officers or traffic lights.

Alderman Mills said the bylaw would cause no trouble if intelligently interpreted but he was afraid it would not be. He also maintained, and was backed by Mayor Macpherson, that a car could be stopped for an hour at a busy intersection if motorists had to give the right-of-way to every pedestrian putting his foot on the curb.

He thought there should be a finer definition of the term "right-of-way." He did believe pedestrians should be protected. Action on this section was finally deferred.

The committee approved of a bylaw prohibiting vehicles from going through safety zones but it was pointed out this did not prevent motorists from driving

DOUGLAS REPLIES

Minister Chides Gleeful Editors

"I suppose any highways minister in Western Canada must be prepared to accept a certain amount of risking regarding the state of the roads as long as the federal government refuses to accept any responsibility, but I think it is only fair that the true facts be given in the province," the Hon. J. T. Douglas, highways minister, said today in Regina, in reference to editorials which have appeared recently in several Saskatchewan daily papers.

"QUITE UNTRUE"

"Gross misrepresentation has occurred in reference to my inability to attend a meeting in Arborfield due to the condition of the roads. The statement that I was unable to travel over a provincial highway because of impassable conditions. This is quite untrue. Despite very heavy rains I was able to travel on No. 35 from Tisdale to Arnley, but the municipal road from Arnley to Arborfield was impassable and I had to turn back," the minister stated.

"I also noticed that the gleeful editors had not mention from whom the present government inherited the highway system. Nor have they mentioned that in the three years the government has been in office, one of which was a war year, it has added 1,810 miles to the gravel surfaced highway mileage of the province, has regravelled 1,000 miles of worn out gravelled highway, and has built twice as much mileage of bituminous pavement as existed at the time it took office, Mr. Douglas said.

"I would also like to point out to the editors that while Sas-

R.C.M.P. Control For Moose Jaw?

Special to The Star-Phoenix

MOOSE JAW, Sept. 5.—Preliminary negotiations between the city of Moose Jaw and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to have the city policed by the reinforced force instead of the city-controlled police department, have been opened, it was learned authoritatively here.

The council held a secret meeting Wednesday night following which it was learned that it is understood the plan is the discussed behind closed doors.

By bringing in the R.C.M.P. to police the city, it is estimated about $25,000 will be saved annually by the city. Estimated expenditure for the current year of the city police department is $81,111.

The Best Yet

The housing registry at the university has received requests for room and board in Scouses but not one came in the other day that tops them all.

A married man, writing from Cupar, wanted to know if the registry could locate a place for him, his wife, two children (four and a half years, and 4 months) and for a cow he wanted to bring with him. The prospective student is a veteran who plans to take the two year diploma course in agriculture.

His only income will be a D.V.A. training grant, but he has a "good deal of fruit and vegetables."

Claude Penson who is in charge of the housing registry, reports that the demand for rooms is still great. He said the majority of the people who have available accommodation are veterans' wives and the need of rooms for exams is acute. The situation regarding married students, especially those with children, has not improved over last year, he said. Mr. Penson requested that people who have rooms for rent phone the registry at the university.

Fitness Council Promoted Crafts

For the purpose of developing wholesome, healthy citizens who will make an intelligent use of leisure time, the Physical Fitness Council, has encouraged and promoted arts, crafts, camping, canoeing, skating, boxing, drama, hobbies, and similar activities. It was stated at the initial meeting of the council, Thursday.

At the meeting of the Civic Service Club of the growth of the Saskatoon Service Club in the last five years, enabling the club to win six firsts, five seconds and two thirds in the national finals.

Will Take Action Against Combine

OTTAWA, Sept. 5 (CP).—Government sources said today legal action definitely would be taken against the Canadian Combines Investigation Act if the dental supply field, in Canada.

A spokesman said the report on the combine, issued this week by combines director F. A. McGregor, had been sent to the nine provincial attorneys-general for study and possible action.

However, since the combine was country-wide, it was likely that the matter would be left to federal government, although Ontario might also act because most of the companies involved operate from that province.

The spokesman was commenting on a Regina dispatch which quoted acting Premier J. W. Corman of Saskatchewan as saying his government was perturbed that no action had been decided against the co

Lord Bishops Deliberating

The Church of England's house of bishops began its deliberations here this morning and was scheduled to remain in session all day.

The bishops began discussions on matters for a conference Thursday on the problems of work among Canada's Indians, preliminary to the general session of the synod which opens Tuesday—and elicited the following suggestions:

1. The recruiting of a native ministry to serve the Indian population.

2. Intensive training for workers among the Indians.

3. The transfer of workers to other fields after five or 10 years' service, in Indian mission.

4. The appointment of a limited number of Indians willing to live among the Cree Indians for two or three winters, learn their language and later do some translating.

PROF. G. W. SIMPSON

head of the history department at the university and also provincial archivist who has left for Denver, Colo., where he is scheduled to address the Society of American Archivists. He is expected to return in time to attend a meeting of the Saskatchewan Archives Board in Regina on September 12.

Less Hogs On Market

While August is usually a poor month for the marketing of hogs since spring porkers are not yet ready for market, receipts during the month at the Union Stock Yards were dropped in comparison to the same month in 1946. Only 3,193 hogs were received at the yards last month compared to 3,754 received in August, 1946, according to the monthly report received today.

The only bright spot in the report was the number of calves received at the yards last month. A total of 1,670 head was received compared to 1,134 during the same month last year.

Receipts of cattle showed a decrease as only 6,452 head were received compared to 7,676 last August. Receipts of horses and sheep were also down. Sheep receipts were 1,257 compared to 2,696 and horses totalled 1,320 compared to 1,888 in August, 1946.

Sutherland "Boys" Get First Houses

"Home town" boys are to be looked after first in the allotment of wartime houses in Sutherland, Board members said in making a definite stand on the issue gave preference to local veterans over other applicants in the allotment of a house soon to become vacant.

A financial report for the first six months of 1947 indicated expenditures and revenue were in line with estimates.

Law Affects Collegiates

Provincial labor regulations regarding overtime have put a spoke in the wheel of previous smooth-working janitor service at Saskatoon's collegiates.

This was apparent when the board of education met Thursday afternoon, ruled that janitor be allowed to work overtime except by special authorization of the board, through the secretary.

Use of the auditoria is also affected. Board members said it would result in use of these collegiate rooms being refused for charitable purposes because janitors would have to be paid overtime on such occasions unless only on special occasions would janitors be arranged to meet the situation.

It was reported that accident insurance for pupils would again be taken out this term. The premium paid by the student is 40 cents.
